July 2024 Newsletter

We welcome you all to Emilia's Wings. To all who are newly bereaved, we know how devastated you are. You are not alone in your grief. We have been in the depths of despair and we are here to help you with unconditional love and understanding. We hope this newsletter will help you while you navigate grief and provide additional resources on your journey. If you know someone who would find our resources helpful, please direct them to our website at www.emilias-wings.org and to our BLOOM monthly meetings.

*You lit up my world. For the briefest of moments. A spark... A pop.
An exquisite display of radiance, never seen before. Never to be seen again.*

The darkness grew. Your light faded. Until you were only a memory.

*A beautiful memory... My memory.

I sit in the darkness. But the darkness cannot take my memory the way it stole your light.

*Remembering with you your babies who lit up your life
— if only for the briefest of time.*

We extend our most sincere sympathy to those who have recently lost a child.

Please know that we are thinking of you and share in your hurt and sorrow

She Helped her Friend Cry - Charles Allen

Once there was a little girl who went on an errand for her mother. She was late coming back and her mother asked for an explanation and the child told her that her friend down the street had fallen and broken her favorite doll, so she stayed to help her. The mother wondered what her child could do to help mend a broken doll. When asked, the little girl gave her a marvelous reply.

"I just stayed down and helped her cry". There are times when, with other people, we cannot solve their problems, we can only become part of their grief, and help them cry.
